A Christmas Reflection - The Catholic Thing A Christmas Reflection. Msgr. Robert Batule. Sunday, December 17, 2017 ... On Christmas, we permit a Baby to teach adults how to talk. He is the Babe of Bethlehem and upon his shoulder dominion rests. (cf. Is. 9:5) In Greek mythology, Atlas is a god who supports the sky on his shoulders. Superhuman strength is needed to bear such a weight. Christmas Reflections | This Man's Journey Christmas is about opening our hearts generously, facing our fears and starting all over again. When things are at their worst, someone up there holds us with love with the palm of his hand. Christmas Reflections by Alan Harris Christmas poems, humor, and an essay on Scrooge, all written by Alan Harris for the holiday season.

A Christmas reflection. Association of Catholic Priests 24 Dec A Christmas reflection . Christmas is what we did last year, and the year before that again. Itâ€™s about speaking a language, in word and in symbol, that conjures up memories of the past and helps validate the present. Which is why ritual is at the very heart of Christmas. Who Would Send a Baby - A Christmas Reflection Iâ€™m writing these reflections from Steyl, Holland, the founding house of my religious congregation, the Society of the Divine Word. This evening I attended a concert given by two choirs, a womenâ€™s choir from nearby Tegelen, and a menâ€™s choir from this little village of Steyl. Between Joy and Hope: A Christmas Reflection | RZIM Between Joy and Hope: A Christmas Reflection Posted by Abdu Murray, on December 23, 2016 Topic: Blog Our family loves watching A Charlie Brown Christmas, the 1965 animated special.Itâ€™s odd that something seemingly frivolous as a cartoon can plumb the depths of Christmas.

A Christmas (Carol) Reflection | Mockingbird A Christmas (Carol) Reflection by Nick Lannon on Jan 6, 2011 â€¢ 5:00 pm 1 Comment â€œAh! You do not know the weight and length of strong chain you bear yourself! It was as full and as long as this seven Christmas eves ago and you have labored on it since. Ah, it is a ponderous chain!â€¢. A Christmas Reflection - Return to Order A Christmas Reflection . By John Horvat II. ... Yet, at this Yuletide, we recall the angelic chant to the shepherds on that rustic and poetic first Christmas Eve as the angels sang, â€œGlory to God in the highest heaven, and on earth peace to men of good willâ€¢. Joy to the World: A Christmas Reflection on Darkness and Light The auditorium was filled to capacity, the stage was set with brightly colored lights and creative props, and the music was loud and animated â€“ all typical aspects of a contemporary worship service, yet features that still catch my attention on occasion as someone raised in a more traditional church environment.
